FORBES SAYS.

Forbes says, "The best cure for all ills is the cure for the ill of necessity of money, is to pay your bills. Let the individual pay his bills, no matter how small. The secret is circulation of money. It would pay all in Bay St. Louis. Hard times are brought about by refusal to pay. Moral: Pay your bills today."

32ND YEAR—NO. 44.

HOWARD S. WILLIAMS, LAYMAN-EVANGELIST, OPENS TEN-DAY REVIVAL IN BAY ST. LOUIS.

Answering to the call of God, Howard S. Williams, former editor and publisher of the Hattiesburg American, has become layman-evangelist, and has pitched his tent in Bay St. Louis. On Wednesday night he opened a ten-day revival, his subject of sermon, "The Prodigal Son," from Luke, 15th Chapter, 11 to 32 verse.

Although the weather was cool and raw, there was a goodly attendance. This is unusual for the first night, and would seem to indicate that Mr. Williams is going to have a large crowd every night before the revival comes to an end. The music, under the direction of Mr. Perry, soloist, was excellent, and the choir carried off its share of honors for the evening. The choir is composed of local talent and the music, all in all, is inspiring.

Rev. Galloway, of the Methodist Church, and Rev. Whitten, of the Baptist Church, were present and each in his turn rendered the opening and closing prayer of the evening.

Mr. Williams, a young man of 45 years, has a very engaging personality. A convincing speaker, backed by sincerity. He paid his respects in unmistakable terms to the hypocrites who frequent the churches. He is non-denominational. He is preaching the doctrine of Jesus Christ. He says the Bible and the Ten Commandments are the truths he will expound. An enemy of shams, he will assail them from every angle.

The following high spots are taken from Mr. Williams' first night's sermon:

I'm not here knocking any sect or creed; I'm only asking you are you "Right with God?"

Regardless of your belief or denomination, if you were to die tonight, are you ready to meet your Savior?

Sunday religion isn't worth two cents. Do you live every day like Christ would have you live?

The churches of today should have smaller FRONT doors and larger BACK doors.

Your body is the temple of the most precious thing you possess, your soul. Are you defiling it with this rotten stuff? Are you dulling your finer sensibilities with this rotten stuff?

You've been a prodigal from the work of the Master and from His Kingdom. Now is the time to confess your shortcomings and get right with God.

Say, old top, take it from a good sport, the Devil's pay isn't worth the price. Get on the "Good Old Bible Line," and travel the Heavenly way with me.

On Thursday night Mr. Williams had a large crowd, and several went up to him after the sermon and shook hands, thus showing their willingness to love and serve God. He spoke on "God's Daily Newspaper."

Despite the fact that the weather

DELIGHTFUL HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Mrs. J. O. Gilbert gives Party Wednesday Evening for Her Young Daughter, Miss Leone, at Home in Washington Street.

Mrs. J. O. Gilbert entertained quite a number of young people Wednesday evening at the hospitable and inviting home in Washington street, in compliment to her young daughter, Miss Leone. The party was extensively planned and carried out with corresponding success. The home was decorated very appropriately for the occasion. The table was quite a pretty one, as large black cats, owls, extended over it. At each of the guests' place was a pumpkin; with his or her fortune in it. There were no other lights except a candle standing in a butterfly at each end of the place.

The ice cream was served in an apple, from which the core was removed. At the stroke of twelve they were led to the magic well, which was built in the ground and was a source of much pleasure.

Mrs. Gilbert was ably assisted in receiving the young people by Mrs. G. Y. Blaize and Miss Della Hymel.

Among those who enjoyed the party were: Margaret Blaize, Wesley Greedling, Vivian Muller, Junior Glover, Edna Greedling, Eugene Blaize, Judith Mauffray, August Muller, Anna Mae Blaize, Billy Biscane, Nancy Ransam, Dick Wamgans, Ruth Fuller, George Schilling, Leona Gilbert, G. Y. Blaize.

The "ghosts" were Henry Larose, Anthony Glover, Theodore Stockmann, Joseph Calhoun.

NOTHING NEW ANENT FERRY PIER.

As to the immediate rebuilding of the ferry pier there is nothing definite to be given out. Board of Supervisors will meet Monday and the subject will come before that body for consideration.

It is the consensus of opinion hereabouts that the structure ought to be put back, and the Board, in its wisdom, will not doubt do so, unless some unforeseen contingency arises to make it otherwise.

The argument that the structure already has cost over $5,000 is the best argument why another thousand or more ought to be spent and save the bulk of amount already expended. Besides, the ferry service lacking is keenly felt.

BAY ST. LOUIS BABY IS BORN WITH SIX TEETH

was cloudy and some rain fell, a flattering number came out again to the tent to hear him. He handled the subject fittingly and his logic of comparison carried.

During the course of the evening's discourse he dropped these few vital points for consideration:

What is your circulation as a newspaper for God? Did you print only the things that are good and Christ-like?

You criticize the paper for printing dirty scandals. Did you go around town today telling Mrs. So-and-So some dirty gossip about some other sister of the town?

I can stand on the street corner of any town for an hour and hear more dirty tales told than you would ever see in print in any newspaper.

Remember, you can't call God up and tell Him He has your initials wrong. He hasn't made any mistake and He has a record of every act, word and deed of you.

Did you tell the editor that "among the guests present at your bridge party was Jesus Christ of Nazareth?" Well, he was there, just the same.

Young lady, would you like to be buried in that B. V. D. dress you wore to the dance? Should you wear that? No, should you? And, sir, would you like to have the ace of spades on your coffin instead of the Cross of Jesus Christ?

He will speak every night up to and including next Friday night. Tomorrow night—Sunday the flying squadron from Hattiesburg will be present.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY BY BAY-W. CLUB WAS BIG SUCCESS

Local Society Organization Puts Over Dance in Big Fashion—Entertains From 9 to 12 at One of the Best Parties Yet—Elite Was Well Represented.

Not the largest, but one of the best and most charming affairs of the numerous given by the fashionable Bay-Waveland Club was the Halloween party given Saturday night by the club at its home on the beach front and Washington street.

For the occasion the place had been thoughtfully and tastefully decorated, appropriate to the fall season. Autumn leaves, multi-colored, and great festoons of moss hung from the different ceiling and wall lights. Every globe was covered with a jack-o'-lantern and on the outside, flanking both sides of the vestibule entrance similar decorations were given and two "ghosts" took positions.

Every lady entering was marked a number, and when the entrance prizes were presented these were captured by Mrs. Teddy Lyons and Mrs. Carl Marshall, holders of the lucky tickets.

A famous local band discoursed the music of the evening. It was unanimously voted that this was possibly the most enjoyable and best party yet given by the Club. It is planned to give another for Thanksgiving, possibly the Saturday before. This is in line with the club's purpose to give a series of parties throughout the winter. The object of the club is for social entertainment and it is intended to carry this purpose out. It is proposed to make of the Thanksgiving affair one of novelty.

Among those present Saturday night the following were noted: Mrs. E. Garland, Mr. and Mrs. H. Boneh, Mr. T. A. Grech, Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans, Mrs. J. Borden, Messrs. Gordon Borden and Bob, Miss Ethel Brandao, Misses Swoon, Mr. Laurent Rerogian, Miss A. Palanque, Mr. P. V. Lacoste, Misses Aline Rensen and

UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE IN THIS CITY LAST WEEK, WHEN COLORED BOY IS BORN WITH NUMBER OF TEETH—CASE IS MOST SINGULAR—LIKE NEVER HEARD OF BEFORE.

FACT TO BE PUBLISHED IN MEDICAL JOURNALS.

Local Medical Men Say They Have Never Heard of Such Case—Matter Will Be Given World-Wide Publicity and Subsequent Discussion As Result.

A very unusual thing occurred in Bay St. Louis the latter part of last week, when a baby, colored, was born with six teeth, all in normal position in the jaw, and of a similar shape, only never not well developed inasmuch that there was no enamel on them.

The child was delivered by Dr. C. L. Horton, of Bay St. Louis, in the course of his regular practice, and he, along with other local doctors, say they have never heard of a similar case. Dr. Jas. A. Evans, local dentist, likewise has never seen or heard of a like case.

As a result, a report has been made and will be sent to the leading medical and dental journals over the world, in order the fact might become known and for the subsequent discussion it will give rise to.

The little fellow, not content with cutting his teeth from six to sixteen months ahead of time, insisted on being born two months too soon and lost his life.

PECAN CROP IN AND ABOUT PASCAGOULA LARGE.

Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Pounds Will Be Shipped This Season From Jackson County.

The pecan crop in and around Pascagoula and Jackson county will be unusually large this season. The Pascagoula Chronicle-Star has the following on the subject in its issue of yesterday:

While this season will witness one of the largest crops of pecans here in the United States for several years, the demand is active, and it is felt by pecan men the crop will be absorbed during the season.

Of course, on account of the size of the crop, prices, like all other commodities, are governed by the supply. Last season was the shortest crop for many years, and prices were correspondingly high. The market has now opened ten to fifteen cents per pound under last year's prices, but it is fair to say that the tonnage of this season will overbalance the higher prices of last season.

Locally, there is a splendid crop and the nuts are superior in size and quality, and great quantities have already been brought into Pascagoula, and are being promptly shipped. Pascagoula alone shipped 200,000 pounds last season, including grafted and seedling varieties, and a well informed local shipper estimates a total shipment from here this season of 300,000 to 350,000 pounds. Prices are always better at opening of season, when demand is greatest by the Northern market, and for that reason crop should be harvested at earliest possible date.

Reports from Ocean Springs and the county generally indicate a great tonnage for 1923.

It seems that the increase in the production of the grafted variety is fast relegating the seedlings to the shellers. Formerly the seedlings of this territory were readily sold to grocers for re-sale in shell, but now that the grafted varieties are available the grocers are calling more liberally for these grades, and the seedlings to the shellers. This latter industry is growing fast, as more uses are being made of shelled meats than formerly, by the candy people, bakers and for general purposes of salads, foods, etc.

Pascagoula is not only now the largest distributing point for pecans in Mississippi, but the tonnage of distribution is rapidly increasing, and a tonnage is annually drawn here for re-sale and shipment from Alabama and Georgia, both of which States produce heavily of the grafted varieties.

The fact remains, however, that Jackson county, the home and point of origin of these great varieties, such as the Schley, Stuart, Success, Lewis and Pabst produces in size and quality, superior to any other State or county of their adoption.

FEATURE TUESDAY NIGHT AT A. & G.

Gloria Swanson in a Sam Wood Production, "My American Wife." A Paramount.

Theatre goes and admirers of Gloria Swanson have a treat in store for them at the A. & G. Theatre Tuesday night, when the showing will consist of a Paramount feature, entitled "My American Wife," including in the cast Antonio Moreno.

Romantic Argentine land of the tango and the fiery serenitas—that's the setting of this newest heart drama. With Gloria, more gorgeously endowed than ever, an American girl finding her true love amid Spanish passions and intrigue. Big, colorful, and throbbing with exciting action.

The program for the entire week, appearing elsewhere in the advertising columns of The Echo, teems with unusually good pictures.

It will be noted the A. & G. Theatre is presenting the best program features possible to be had, and liberally interspersed with features. It is a well known fact the rental of pictures run into big money and a liberal patronage on the part of the public makes it possible to continue the presentation of better pictures for better people.

STATE AND COUNTY ELECTIONS NOV. 5

Regular Election To Be Held Next Tuesday Over State of Mississippi and Hancock County—Nominees of August To Be Voted For—List of Managers.

Next Tuesday, November 5th, will be election day in every voting precinct in Hancock county and the State of Mississippi. In Bay St. Louis voting will take place at the courthouse. This will be the regular every-four-year election for county and State officials, and the voters will be called upon to elect by their ballots the nominees of last August.

While the nominees in Hancock county and the State of Mississippi have no opposition, no other party but the regular Democratic organization having put forth a ticket, it would be well to turn out full numbers and make a good showing, at least if not a full voting strength.

For the election next Tuesday in Hancock county the following named voters have been selected to serve at the polls on election day, and the names are as follows:

County Board of Election Commissioners: Precinct, Lake Shore—Peace and returning officer, Eugene Garcia; managers, Dan Ladner, J. J. Yarbrough, R. J. Ladner.

Waveland—Peace and returning officer, J. J. Bordages; managers, Alphonse Favre, Willie Ruhr, Henry Ladner.

Ansley—Peace and returning officer, Oscar Green; managers, Chris Dorn, Raphael Peace, Willie Cuevas, E. Waveland—Peace and returning officer, Joe Jones; managers, Lamar Otis, Toulme Hollerman, Roy Baxter.

Gainesville—Peace and returning officer, Joe Carver; managers, John B. Brown, Willie Wood, John Shults.

Aaron Academy—Peace and returning officer, Chas. Thigpen; managers, Willie Thigpen, John McQueen, J. N. Keller.

Flat Top—Peace and returning officer, John Kestel; managers, W. B. Pearson, Ford Smith, W. P. Lee (Brice).

Cane Creek—Peace and returning officer, Alce Nicaise; managers, J. R. Hamiel, Willie Ladner, J. E. Smith.

Standard—Peace and returning officer, J. Farrell; managers, Ephram Cuevas, Wilson Rester, Alcede Nicaise.

Fenton—Peace and returning officer, George Cuevas; managers, Casimere Garaga, Ralph Seller, Victor Caesar—Peace and returning officer, John Kestel; managers, W. B. Pearson, Ford Smith, W. P. Lee (Brice).

Bay St. Louis—Peace and returning officer, W. H. McDaniel; managers, Paul Molere, Teddy Morell, Conrad Sick.

Mr. James Geary was a business visitor to Gulfport Thursday.

MERCHANTS BANK DIRECTORS HOLD BANQUET FEAST

In Celebration of Twentieth Anniversary of Organization of Local Institution—Event Was Celebrated Monday Night at Peacock Tea Room, on Beach.

SPAN OF TWENTY YEARS SHOWS SERIES OF SUCCESSSES.

George R. Rea, Bank's First Cashier, Has Given Twenty Years of Continuous Service, and Felicitated on Success—Banquet Was Privately Given.

To mark the completion of twenty years of continuous success and the fact that such a milestone had been reached in the existence and affairs of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company, of Bay St. Louis, the directors of that institution on Monday night privately and at their own individual expense celebrated the occasion with a banquet given at the Peacock Tea Room, on the Beach front, Mrs. Abigail Bourgeois, hostess.

It was planned to celebrate the institution's birthday on October 15th, the original date, but owing to illness in the ranks of the directorate the matter was postponed. It was a magnificent spread and prior to the departure that evening, a formal vote of thanks and appreciation was given by the directors to Mrs. Bourgeois for the excellence of the menu and for the general manner in which the affair was set and managed.

Joseph O. Mauffray, president of the bank, delivered appropriate remarks to the assembly. She was well received. He was followed by Vice President A. L. Stokoe and Vice President and Cashier Geo. R. Rea, then by John Osoinach, former president who in turn was succeeded by each of the directors and the other gentlemen connected with the bank who were present.

The remarks of the evening were not only of a felicitous nature but reminiscent as well. From the days had crowned his efforts and the splendid success he had helped to make for the bank.

The fact was brought out not only how the bank had prospered, but how well the city had grown in the span of twenty years. The innumerable new buildings, places of business, etc., were pointed to with pride; how the people had succeeded, and in many instances had prospered.

Those present, in alphabetical order, were: J. A. Brecht, W. J. Gex (represented by Emilio Cue), John K. Edwards, George H. Edwards, A. K. Kergosien, Jos. O. Mauffray, Chas. G. Moreau, John Osoinach, George R. Rea, A. L. Stokoe, Paul Villere, directors. Messrs. Val Yates, Charles Travis and A. G. Favre, attaches of the bank.

Local Fans Will Have Opportunity to See Sailor Johnson Given Second Chance—Says He Was Fouled Recently—Good Preliminaries Promised.

The local Howitzer Company 155th will present another boxing exhibition at their armory, in Second street, on Monday, November 3, at 8:30 o'clock, P. M.

Sailor Johnson, of New Orleans, will meet Young Moran, of Pass Christian, in an eight-round bout.

A couple of excellent prelims will be on the card when Kid Tomasich and Louis Bayre will meet, as also Young Louisiana (the Walloping Wop) and Kid Seube.

It will be remembered that Sailor Johnson met Kangaroo Cameron recently and lost the decision. It was rumored about afterwards that the Sailor had been fouled, but as he did not claim it, nor the referee—Vic. Lizanza—see it, no attention was paid to it, and the consensus of opinion was that the New Orleans man had been whipped. The writer was under that impression, having but recently learned of the foul.

It is foolish for a fighter to keep his mouth closed when he gets fouled; he should at once complain to the referee and prove his assertion.

The coming bout will be a good one, as both the Sailor and Moran are far from four flusters.

Both Kid Tomasich and Kid Seube have K. O.'s to their credit, and can be depended on to furnish entertainment for the fans.

CONDITION OF W. J. GEX.

As The Echo goes to press this Saturday afternoon we learn the condition of W. J. Gex is most encouraging. His fever has subsided and all pain has ceased. Specialists have diagnosed his condition as not serious and in time he ought to and will be home to his loved ones and friends again.

S. S. C. SPECIAL PULLED OUT AT 1:15 FOR GULFPORT.

Will Play Gulf Coast Military Eleven At 3 O'clock This Afternoon—Game To Be Played at Season—Train Well Patronized.

At 1:15 o'clock this Saturday afternoon St. Stanislaus College special pulled out over the Louisville and Nashville bound for Gulf Coast Military College, five miles beyond Gulfport, to witness the annual football game, termed the classic of the season.

There were four coaches. At 1 o'clock Bro. Peter, master in charge, reported 250 tickets had been sold. The guarantee was 240 tickets. At 1:15 the train pulled out amid much cheer. Those left behind wished the boys and their guests God speed.

Among those noted on board were Chief of Police Albert Jones, Chief Frank Martin, E. J. Gex, Gen. S. F. O'Neal, Milton Phillips, Andrew Manieri. A liberal sprinkling of the fair sex accompanied the party. Easily three hundred people were aboard.

To The Echo Bro. Lambert said the venture had proven a success. He appreciated the spirit of Bay St. Louis in answering the call; that this would encourage further effort.

FRIEND OF SOLDIER BOYS IN COUNTY IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mary C. Gager, Who Worked In and Out of Season For Service and Ex-Service Men in Hancock County, Passed Away Monday Morning Unexpectedly, at Home in Carroll Avenue.

Announcement of the death of Mrs. Mary C. Gager, beloved wife of Joseph L. Gager, was received Monday morning by the community as a distinct shock. It was known Mrs. Gager had been to New Orleans, where she underwent an operation, and had returned home a few days previous to her death, but it was not known her condition was so bad to the extent that brought on the end.

Mrs. Gager passed away at her home in Carroll avenue shortly after 3 o'clock Monday morning, surrounded by her loved ones. The operation had been successful, but subsequent conditions brought on peritonitis, causing death.

A native of Bay St. Louis, aged 48 years, the deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Bontemps, well known residents of Bay St. Louis. She was educated at St. Joseph's Academy and in her early womanhood was married to Joseph L. Gager, a local executive of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company. She was a sister of Sheriff Elect Joseph Bontemps and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Marcelles Deland and Mrs. Dan Zeigler, of this city.

During the war and up to the time of her death Mrs. Gager had devoted all of her spare time from home to the cause of soldier boys from Bay St. Louis and Hancock county. In her death the service and ex-service men have lost their best friend. She was truly a ministering angel.

In the ranks of the soldier boys she worked without limit and without price. After the war she took charge of the vocational training bureau, as operated under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, and when that was abolished she felt that her work had just begun. Accordingly, she suggested to the Knights of Columbus that they allow her to conduct the same work, only under the auspices of their organization. She wanted no salary; no pay. It was a labor of love, a mission of mercy.

Co-operating with the county officials, she established an office at the courthouse, with regular office hours. It was through the instrumentality of her offices that ex-service men received all consideration due them from the government. Only a few days prior to her illness she sent a local ex-service boy to the government sanitarium where tuberculosis is treated. Her deeds of mercy are as numerous as the sands on the sea strand, and surely her crown in heaven must be studded equally with as many gems.

It was through her efforts that an American Legion Post was organized in Hancock county. As a worthy commendation of the heroism after whom the Post was named, and in recognition of her worth and work the Legion men voted to hold a funeral after her brother, Clement R. Bontemps. It was a fitting and appropriate compliment.

Members of the Legion attended the funeral in a body. Among the floral offerings were one from the Legion, from the Knights of Columbus and the county officials, all beautiful designs.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon from the late residence, Rev. Father Gmelch officiating, at the house, Church of Our Lady of the Gulf, and at St. Mary's Cemetery, where she was laid to rest with her parents and brother. When the newly-made grave had been made it was covered with a wealth of flowers. It was a beautiful and worthy tribute of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. Her death is a loss to the community; her departure is generally mourned, but her memory will live on.

To the bereaved husband, a son, Elmer Gager, and other members of the family, The Echo joins the host of friends in extending deepest sympathy.

Mr. Felix Ehrmann came out from New Orleans for All Saints' Day.

OLD SOLDIERS TO HAVE NEW HOSPITAL AT BEAUVOIR HOME

Contract Let to Jackson Firm to Erect Building on Gulf Coast—Contract Price Thirty-Eight Thousand Dollars—Lowest of All Bids.

NEW HOSPITAL BUILDING TO BE FINISHED MARCH 1, 1924.

How Funds Were Raised to Finance Building—W. M. Lampton of Magnolia Comes Forth With Unusual Generosity—Newspapers Given Credit For Help.

The contract for building the Jefferson Davis Soldiers' Home Hospital at Beauvoir, Mississippi, was let Tuesday at Jackson, Miss., by the State Bond and Improvement Commission. The lowest bidder was W. T. Beckelheim, of Jackson, Miss. His bid was $38,000. Other bids were $43,000 and $45,000. The contractor guarantees to finish the hospital by March 1. This price does not include steam heat, gas nor fixtures and furnishings. The contract on the latter items will be let just as soon as enough money has been donated.

The funds for this hospital were raised by public subscriptions by the untiring efforts of Superintendent Elmer Tarrt, who for the past two years has begged everybody but the blind for money for this worthy cause.

The Daughters of the Confederacy of Mississippi greatly assisted in the work of raising funds, and much credit is due to that organization, especially Mrs. D. B. Holmes of Hattiesburg, who was very successful in securing donations of several cars of building material. General W. M. Wroten, commander U. C. V. organization in Mississippi, was also a great factor in helping to raise funds for the hospital. Mrs. Mary Southworth, of Kimbrough, founder of the Beauvoir Home, was very active and successful in soliciting funds for the hospital; in fact, every U. C. Chapter in Mississippi were very active and successful in soliciting funds.

The hospital never could have been built, though, but for the wonderful generosity of Hon. W. M. Lampton, of Magnolia, Miss., who agreed to donate 10 percent of all funds collected, and who donated $1,000 to Superintendent Elmer Tarrt to defray the expenses of conducting a campaign to raise money for the hospital.

Newspapers Helped. All the newspapers of Mississippi have given from $500 to $1,000 every day for the past two years. Superintendent Tarrt is very thankful to everybody especially to the newspapers. He claims he would never have been successful in raising the money if the newspapers had not been kind enough to give the proposition so much publicity.

While this hospital will be a great help, Superintendent Tarrt is greatly disappointed that he failed to raise enough funds to build a $100,000 hospital, which is badly needed to care for the conditions at the "Old Soldiers' Home at Beauvoir, Miss. But he has great confidence that the Mississippi Legislature will appropriate money to build the hospital larger at the January, 1924, session.

Superintendent Tarrt says he will need $5,000 more to complete this hospital that is, to put steam heat, to put linoleum on the concrete floors and other fixtures. He will continue to solicit funds for these items. The new hospital will accommodate about fifty patients and will be modern in every particular and will be built of brick and concrete, and will be absolutely fireproof. It will be a one-story building.

Now that work will start on the hospital as soon as material can be assembled Superintendent Tarrt says he trusts that the good-hearted people of Mississippi will take on more faith and enthusiasm about the Beauvoir Hospital and help raise the $5,000.

DEATH OF BRO. XAVIER.

Bro. Xavier, well known member of the order of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, died at Natchez during the week. He was found dead one morning in his bed. He was well advanced in years.

Bro. Xavier is best known as teacher in the "Back School," conducted by St. Stanislaus College, and the news of his death will be learned with regret by many.

DECISION.

The man who is personally hesitating about two things he will do first will do neither. The man who resolves, but suffers his resolution to be changed by the first counter suggestion of a friend, who fluctuates from opinion to opinion and veers like a weathercock to every point of the compass, with every breath of caprice that blows, can never accomplish anything great or useful. Success.

SUCCESS.

Men succeed only as they work together. Without companionship ambition drops, courage fails, reason totters. The man who does useful work is in direct communication with other people. He works for others, and the thought that he is doing something for somebody sustains him.—Elbert Hubbard.

Wherever through the ages rise
The altars of self-sacrifice,
Where love its arms has opened wide
Or man for man has calmly died,
I see the same white wings outspread
That hovered o'er the Master's head. —Whittier.

WATCH FOR GOOD THINGS.

It is the aim of makers of The Echo to put into every issue many things we believe will prove useful to our readers. We vary them week by week, so it is necessary for you to look through the paper closely that you may find the things that are meant to interest you. Some of the things intended to help you are in the news columns, but many of them are always to be found among the advertisements. And haven't you noticed that advertising is much more useful to you than it used to be? It is now the part of wisdom to read the ads in every newspaper. If you will read and act upon the ads you will find our home merchants are striving hard to give you honest, sincere information about what and where to get what you want at fair prices. If you will read and act upon the advertising in this paper you will find it not only to your immediate advantage, but you will make Bay St. Louis a better and better place in which to trade, a thing that will work to the permanent advantage of all of us.

WATCH THE SIGNALS.

We've heard several auto drivers complain recently of men and women who disregard the customary hand signals while driving about our highways. They complain that many drivers make left-hand turns in a haphazard manner, without extending the arm from the car, as should be done, to notify the driver in the rear of their intentions. Or they come to a sudden stop without first dropping the left hand outside the car to show that they are going to stop. The driver of every car should remember that the man driving behind him is watching closely for such signals as he may give, and that it is really the one little bit of carelessness in using only safeguard against an accident. The hand signal may result in a bad collision, with a possible loss of life, or, at least, costly damage to machines. It's easy to signal, and it's only criminal carelessness that keeps anyone from doing so. Remember that the next time you go to make a left-hand turn or when you stop your car.

IT ISN'T YOUR JOB—IT'S YOURS.

If you want to land in the kind of a job
That's the kind of a job you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find elsewhere what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your job,
It isn't your job—it's yours.
Real jobs are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else get ahead;
When everyone works and nobody knocks,
You can climb without being led.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your job will be what you want to see;
It isn't your job—it's yours.

Many serious questions must be considered in selecting men. Honesty is one—matter, perhaps, to be decided only by records. Loyalty is another. Unlike honesty, this is easily sacrificed in a day. Enthusiasm is important. In some places it is frowned upon—regarded as bad form. Only by stirring up a man's enthusiasm are the fires of his energy kept alive. If he feels he wants to go deeper into business, to give it more thought, energy, and intelligence, to damp his enthusiasm is to kill his value as an employee. If Gordon Selfridge.

PUSH THIS ALONG.

When most of us went to school recess meant a brief game of ball, or "hide-and-seek," or something like that. But times and customs have both changed, and now Bay St. Louis youngsters, like those in every other section, demand modern equipment in their play. They are coming more and more to see the advantage of regular, scientific exercise, and we are not the ones to argue against it. Thousands of schools are being supplied with modern playground equipment, and we believe it is as good an investment as a board of education can make. Then, too, the teachers and parents of many school districts are now organizing Parent-Teachers' Associations, holding regular meetings, discussing matters of interest to the pupils and ways and means for creating even more interest in study. This we also endorse. We believe such an organization tends to bring the residents of a community into closer touch, and we know that when people rub elbows in neighborhood common good to the entire school district will result.

Like Bay St. Louis, let's have a Parent-Teachers' Association in every county school district. It's easy to get some one to come once a month for a good, wholesome talk on educational subjects, and many helpful pointers can be gained thereby. Let a part of one meeting be devoted to discussing ways and means for securing additional playground equipment, additional books for the school library, or, if there isn't a library in the school, to ways and means for starting one. We're not going to do too much for the boys and girls who are coming on to take our places, and the sooner every school district organizes with this fact in mind the better off that community will be.

BUILDING HIGHWAYS.

The bigger the body the slower the movement, and the greater the movement the longer it takes to get it started. The United States is a large body, almost entirely surrounded by motor cars and poor roads. It is moving slowly but surely, however, toward the time when it will have nothing but good roads—110,000 of them, so Uncle Sam says. Improving almost 3,000,000 miles of highway is a huge task and it takes time for it to get under way. Federal aid is being gradually passed out to the various States, and before long we are going to commence to feel it. We can't hope to grab off our entire share, however, before some of the others get theirs, nor can we hope to be favored with all of the money in one bunch when it does get started. We must be content to move slowly, but to move.

One thing we know, however, and that is that the section which shows the greatest interest in better roads, and the section that jumps in and shows active signs of road-building will be the first ones to feel the effect of substantial financial help from the government. Communities that work for and vote for and agitate and actually show a determination to lift themselves out of the mud are getting federal aid. Those content to drag along with poorly patched-up highways are going to be the last in the country to get that great-est of all blessings to a community—good and modern highways.

COUNT YOUR COIN.

Our readers will be interested in a statement just issued by the United States Treasury Department to the effect that there is now in circulation $42.85 for every man, woman and child in this country. Three years ago this per capita was $37, and when the civil war started it was but $14. As the business of a country expands the amount of our currency has to be increased or money will be "tight," prices will sink to a disastrous point. If too much money was issued we would experience just such conditions as now confront Germany. Money wants to be just "tight" enough so people will have to work for it and it will buy enough to supply their needs. But keeping it at the right point is the problem we will always face, and always we will have those who complain that they can't get hold of their share. So long as the per capita wealth of this country is $42.85 financiers declare the nation is in good shape and on a solid foundation. And even though our $42.85, we still hope the financiers are right about it.

Reason is the life of the law; nay, the common law itself is nothing else but reason.—Coke.

Why should we call ourselves men, unless it be to succeed in everything, everywhere? Say of nothing, "This is beneath me," nor feel that anything is beyond our powers. Nothing is impossible to the man who can will.—Mirabeau.

Understanding does not always drive onward like an arrow. The mind sometimes, by making a halt and going around for advice, moves straight on none the less, and hits the mark.—Marcus Aurelius.

WITH THE WITS.

Was He Fired?

—Mr. and Mrs. Elite finally decided to make a necessary round of calls. They were seated in their limousine, about to start, when they discovered that their cards had been left behind. Accordingly, the chauffeur—new in their employ—was sent to get them from Mrs. Elite's desk. The calls stopped at many houses and when those favored were not at home, the chauffeur was told to leave one or two cards. Upon stopping at one large house, Mrs. Elite told him to leave three.

"Can't do it, ma'am," was the reply. "I only have two left, the two of hearts and the ten of spades."—Lampoon.

Sweet Charity.

A big fairly man called at the rectory, and when the door was opened asked to see the rector's wife, a woman well known for her charitable impulses.

"Madam," he addressed her in a broken voice, "I wish to draw your attention to the terrible plight of a poor family in this district. The father is dead, the mother is too ill to work, and the nine children are starving. They are about to be turned into the cold, cold streets unless some one pays their arrears in rent, which amounts to $50."

"How terrible!" exclaimed the lady. "May I ask you who are?"

The sympathetic visitor applied his handkerchief to his eyes. "I'm the landlord," he sobbed.—American Legion Weekly.

He—Well, poverty is no disgrace.—Pearson's Weekly.

Under Suspicion.

One afternoon a stranger embarked on a train at a hustling town in the West and headed up the street. Finally, he met a man who looked like a native.

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "are you a resident of this town?"

"Yes, sir," was the ready rejoinder of the other. "I have been here something like fifty years. What can I do for you?"

"I am looking for a criminal lawyer," responded the stranger. "Have you one here?"

"Well," said the native, reflectively, "we think we have, but can't prove it on him."—Washington Herald.

Dismissing Him Gently.

The head of a large shop while passing through the packing room, observed a boy lounging against a case of goods and whistling cheerily.

The chief stopped and looked at him. "How much do you get a week?" he demanded.

"Five dollars."

"Then here's a week's money; now clear out."

The boy pocketed the money and departed.

"When did we hire that boy?" the chief inquired of the departmental manager.

"Never," was the reply. "He had just brought a note from another firm."—Christian Evangelist.

"Oh, Harold," she gurgled happily, as she cuddled closer. "I wonder how anyone could say that absence makes the heart grow fonder."

"I guess," replied Harold, "that must mean the absence of a third party."—Boston Transcript.

ECHOES FROM ST. STANISLAUS.

With S. S. C. Collegians in Class Room and on Campus.

Stanislaus Rumps Over Audubon. Showing splendid offense all through and working line backs, end runs and forward passes with equal success, the Stanislaus Rock-a-Chaws rumped over the Audubon here Thursday, showing them under in a 34-7 score.

The Audubons made but one first touchdown in the entire contest, while the Rock-a-Chaws swung around for seventeen first downs and five touchdowns. Chester Lombard showed splendid work for the losers, while every man in the Rock-a-Chaw field responded for substantial gains when called on. Bonura is credited with the biggest yardage at the receiving end of forward passes, while Baron Jaubert and Montz interfered with any attempts of the visitors to use the aerial route goal-ward.

It was the last home game for the Rock-a-Chaws for three weeks. Next Saturday's game at G. C. M. will be followed by an invasion of Lafayette to try conclusions with Coach Mobley's Northwestern Stars.

In the second quarter Stanislaus kicked off, Audubon returned the ball fifteen yards, but was unable to pierce the Rock-a-Chaws line and Armstrong was forced to punt. The collegians made a few small gains, but a penalty held them. Audubon returned the ball and the Rock-a-Chaw roller started. A 27-yard pass, Gossen to Bonura, set the ball on the 20-yard line. Rushes by Crefasi, Gex and Schiro brought the ball in striking distance and Gossen kicked it over for the touchdown.

In the second period both teams resorted to forward passes, but Audubon failed to make any gains with them. The Rock-a-Chaws drove down the field on end runs, interspersed with forward passes, till Schiro carried the ball off the field for the second marker. In the last few minutes of the quarter a blocked punt gave the ball to Audubon on the 14-yard line. A pass Jones to Armstrong, gave the visitors their only tally. Armstrong failed to kick.

The third quarter showed an improved defense on the Audubons and the ball was passed back and forth till the end of the quarter without any sensational plays on either side. The quarter ended with the ball in the Rock-a-Chaws' possession on the enemy's 1-yard line.

In the first minute of the last quarter Cleveland and Gossen took turns rushing the line till Gossen crossed the goal line. Gex kicked for point. Then a few long passes, Gossen to Bonura, and a short yardage pass to put the Cardinal team in striking distance, and Jaubert coaxed the ball over for the fourth touchdown of the game for his team. Gex again kicked goal.

In the remaining plays Martin and Bonura took care of six yards advance and Martin walked over center for another tally. Gex kicked goal.

Junior Rock-a-Chaws, Win, 20 to 12. The Stanislaus Junior Rock-a-Chaws defeated the Gulf Coast Military Academy here Thursday, 20-12.

The game was clean and full of pep throughout. The Gulf Coasts scored in the first quarter and in the last quarter. In the first quarter a bad pass when the Rock-a-Chaws were on their 10-yard line fell behind the goal and a Gulf Coast player fell on it for a touchdown. In the second quarter the Rock-a-Chaws tied the game with three touchdowns and two points on kicked goals after touchdowns.

Slade scored when he ran the kick-off back from the 82-yard line for a touchdown. Within two minutes Slade had accounted for another six-point marker on a 43-yard run of the forward pass from Gardina. Good end running by Haydel followed by another successful pass, this time to Lucien Gex, brought the count up to 20. No more points were scored until the last minutes of the third quarter, when Burgess, of the visitors, intercepted a forward pass and skirted the edge of the field for 73 yards and a touchdown.

The line-ups: Stanislaus—Lang, L. E.; Cassidy, L. T.; Koch, L. G.; Toups, C.; Keifer, R. G.; Nesom, R. T.; Borden, R. E.; Giardina, Q. B.; L. Gex, L. H.; Slade, R. R.; Haydel, F. B. Audubon—Goran, L. Hallowe'en Party at S. S. C. Well, folks, it isn't much of a story, just a brief summary of the simple feast with which Class '24 entertained the student body of S. S. C. Wednesday night.

Since 1917 it has been a customary act of every Graduating Class to entertain Hallowe'en by giving a little feast.

As I started to pass, Class '24, directed by Bro. Peter, did its share also. First of all the program was opened with the usual number, that of "Dancing the Apples." For this act a great big copper tub full of water was prepared, and certain number of doped apples and good apples were placed therein.

The idea was to take the apples around here.

Without using the hands. Needless to say that it was a free bath for all those who participated. In this act Crefasi's dive to the bottom of the tub was the feature. Next thing was a singing contest, introduced for the first time to this feast.

"Dutch" Eisler was the first to start with the popular song "Yes, We Have No Bananas," a number which he executed well. Clarence "Cloudy" Derbes came next in line. His song was entitled, "I Am Here Because I Am Here." I don't know whether the song is composed of only this line or whether "Cloudy" knew only the title, but the truth is that it was as far as he could get. L. "Bayou" opened with the repetition of the first number. The result was a technical knockout and the referee was forced to stop the fray in order to avoid the audience from further punishment. Then came the king of them all "Zeek." He selected a beautiful song, which is now in its prime, "I Am Sorry Now." His ability and true form, I would not say equal to Coruso's, but mighty close, won much clapping for him. "Fanny," who was running against him, decided not to compete, for "Fanny" is clever and saw that it was useless. By general acclamation "Zeek" was declared the winner.

Many other acts featured the program, but it is rather tiresome and I don't care to mention them.

So here I close, hoping that all those who are now reading these lines have the pleasure of enjoying Hallowe'en.

Premiums for October. Conducted by: G. Cleveland. Juniors: Applicants: Commercial Class, Perry, B. J.; Scientific, Milton Lanorte, Eleventh Grade, Worthy Calhoun, Tenth Grade, Section A, J. Scalfidi, Section B, J. Vaccaro, Ninth Grade, Section A, E. Blankinship, Section B, A. T. Leonard. Eighth Grade, Joseph Lajose, Seventh Grade, Thomas Edlow, Sixth Grade, James McDonnell, Fifth and Fourth Grades, Harold Johnson, and Steve Rodi. Special Class, Louis Araujo.

Languages—French: First year, none. Second year, F. Toups. Third year, B. H. B. Fourth year, P. Red. Spanish: First year, A. Burke and M. Dumas. Second year, J. S. Lang. Third year, H. Gossen. Fourth year, M. Laporte. Typewriting: First year, A. Mauffray. Second year, A. T. Leonard. Third year, A. Romero.

Remember This. That a kiss on the cheek is better than a barf full in your hand. That a sock on your foot is better than two on your jaw.

We Wonder Why? "Zeek" looks like Bull Montana? George often goes to see his cousin? Bonura is introducing a new hair cut? "Ratty" Welsh likes to discuss so much about geometry? Willie and Alex were invited to a certain wedding?

We Wonder What Would Happen If? "Banana" lost his tongue? "Zeek" lost his cat? Fanny and Jimmy quit arguing? Blank Young would wake up? Caesar's Gallic wars were put on the Index? Viada missed a date?

JOKES. A Wise Crack. Willie—They won't let me play my wind instrument in the band. Silas—What is it, saxophone or bass instrument? Willie—Neither. An electric fan.

"Old World." Snow or roses, let it be, You're all right, old world, to me; Wasn't here in time to make you, Am in no hurry to forsake you; Just as you are, I'll take you, You're all right, old world, to me.

Men of twenty, girls a plenty, Wit and wine galore; Men of thirty, still quite thirty, Drinking more and more; Men of forty would be sporty, But he's lost his vim; Gone to pieces got parais, And that's the last of him.

When you are feeling blue, Shake it; Life is only what you make it. A pathetic little ballad written by Frank Chance. "At the tail with a lonesome nine."

They say that Cupid strikes the match That sets the world aglow; But where does Cupid strike the match, That's what I'd like to know.

Money. If you spend it you get wiser, If you save it you're a miser. A little song entitled, "I am on my way to the asylum, accompanied by the orchestra."

SOME WISE CRACKS. Promising Material. Football Coach—What qualifications have you for a quarterback? Can you dodge in an open field? Aspirant—I have been a pedestrian in Detroit for sixteen years.

"I"—When we get married will we have an automobile? "G"—Yes, dear, we will have a little runabout.

Fatty—Do you believe in studying the dead languages, Latin and Greek? Nelly—Oh unless you are going to be an undertaker.

Landry—Tony, spell dumb? Tony—D-A-M. Landry—You're wrong. I said dumb. Tony—Well, didn't I say that? Landry—I didn't hear the "b." Tony—You're not supposed to hear it. Bro. said the "b" was silent in that word.

Overlooking a Seaplane. Fatty—Is this plane absolutely safe? Aviator—Safe as earth.

George—If you send me away, I'll purchase a rope and commit suicide, compounded with House Bill No. 170 of such 1920.

Jenny—Well, don't be hanging the Laws of 1920.

This act says "that the School

The Railroads and Industries Are Siamese Twins

The railroads of this country are dependent upon the industries for their existence; and, likewise, the industries are dependent upon the railroads. Like the Siamese Twins, they are truly joined together by an inseparable bond. The health of the one means the health of the other, and the sickness of one means the sickness of the other.

Without railroad service, the products of the farms and the output of the factories become almost valueless in their restricted markets. Therefore, the good health of the railroads insures the good health of the entire nation.

The purchasing power of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and of its more than fifty thousand employees aids materially in keeping busy the wheels of industry within the thirteen states which the L. & N. serves.

Governmental "regulation," or strangulation, of the railroads regulates your business and prosperity as well. You can't hurt one without hurting the other.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF ED. UOATION.

By W. F. B. Sup. Jackson, Miss., October 31.—Investigation shows that a majority of the trustees of the State have not complied with House Bill No. 170 of such 1920.

This act says "that the School Board shall provide a flag for the school over which the Board has control." The law says that the flag shall be displayed either within or without every school building. State Department of Education will insist that this law be adopted.

Furthermore, the children of every school should learn to sing by heart such songs as "America," "Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie."

THE COMING CAR.

Looming large as one of the important factors contributing to the improvement of traffic conditions, not only in the metropolitan centers but on main traveled highways where congestion develops, particularly on Sundays and holidays, is the increasing tendency toward the use of the small, light car.

Personal convenience, the element which enters strongly into the lives of all of us, appears as the principal incentive back of the growing swing of sentiment toward the more compact motor car unit.

The public, quick to respond to things which insure further comfort and safety in motoring, has been observant of the advantages the small car has in the traffic line its ability to stop quick, the ease with which it gets in and out of parking spaces and its general flexibility.

The response is apparent in the constantly growing demand for the small car, and the demand which has been unusually heavy since the first of the present year, and which is further expressing itself as the enclosed car buying season approaches.

Men whose business keeps them on the move about town all day were not long in discovering the exceptional facilities afforded by the small car and they were quick to adapt it as their standard motor car equipment.

Owners of large cars, finding their movement more and more restricted as traffic congestion increases, are rapidly reaching the conclusion that as an auxiliary motor transportation unit the small car is an essential business convenience.

Another interesting feature is the popularity which women drivers are showing for the smaller car. They find it more convenient and less fatiguing to operate, affording them a quick and convenient means of transportation for the shopping tours, for little trips to market, for afternoon calls and for meeting other family requirements.

And new buyers, profiting by the experience of others, in investigating the merits of the small car, find it meets all modern motoring demands with an additional advantage of easier handling in the traffic line, thereby effecting a greater element of safety.

Short wheel base, small turning radius, ease of steering, the impossibility of failure to accomplish gear shift and do it noiselessly, positive brakes and a motor noted for its dependability are factors of the Ford which have contributed largely in making it the most popular of all small cars.

And a much higher degree of owner satisfaction has been effected in these cars by recent improvements in both open and closed types, resulting in better style and greater riding comfort.

Of what use are our mammoth libraries, our wealthy colleges, our intricate laboratories, our ostentatious displays of learning, if, after all, we remain in total ignorance of life?—Edward Purinton.

News Notes of Personal and General Interest From St. Joseph's Academy.

Spirits' View of Halloween at S. J. A.

Tuesday night, as the Spirits of Mirth and Gloom peeped into the windows of Assembly Hall, at S. J. A., the latter was heard to say: "Well, Spirit of Mirth, since you have dragged me to this scene of enjoyment, I do hope you will, at least, do all you can to make me comfortable for you know I never wander into the realms of happiness."

"Now, don't be so grouchy," returned the other, "I'm trying to find out heads and tails of this affair, and I will attend to your comfort as soon as Carmel will be still and allow me to peep over her shoulder, and finish reading this little invite. Now I see, it reads like this:

"To a Halloween party, you are cordially invited."

On October 30th, now don't get excited; Just bring all your courage and try to smile.

For the ghosts and goblins will be running wild. No wonder they are all diked up in Halloween's gayest rigs. They are waiting for the summons to begin their merry-making."

"Goodness," explained the Spirit of Gloom, "they are coming out this door, and they're going to walk right through me, if you don't show me the exit."

"This way; step lively," answered Mirth. "See, they have formed a grand march, and I can't help but sing my bones to the air of that song."

"But I don't understand," retorted the Spirit of Gloom, "why you are ushering on dragging me around and about the campus behind them."

"Well, be quiet now. They have all trooped into the hall, and look, some are sitting in circles, while the others, two at a time, are ushered by Louise Pol, into the House of Horrors."

"Oh! that's dandy!" exclaimed the Spirit of Gloom. "Those screams make me feel quite at home. The other two are sitting in circles, while the others, two at a time, are ushered by Louise Pol, into the House of Horrors."

"See, now; some of the noise is rushing, and Margaret Vial is calling them to order."

"I guess," grumbled the Spirit of Gloom, "my misery will be increased, for I know they're going to have a delightful program, and I shan't look at anything pertaining to amusement and happiness."

"You're a stubborn old thing," answered the Mirthful Spirit, "and to make you more uncomfortable I'm going to whisper to you everything that happens. They've just finished greeting Lucille Rees, a visitor, as well as a graduate of Class '23, who has returned to enjoy a real treat with her old schoolmates. Once again there is quiet, and Chiquita is reciting a cute and interesting poem. And say there, didn't you enjoy those piano solos; you know, Grace Rouse, Adella Gabriele and Dorothy Mayer have promising musical careers before them."

"Oh, be quiet," mumbled the Spirit of Gloom. "There comes Clara Blaize and Irene Sellier. They almost touched me. Don't you remember them? They were boarders last year."

"Thank goodness! They're all seated, put in the Spirit of Mirth, "and the program has resumed. Well, well, Alice Palanque, the convent's little Paderewski, has allowed Louise Pol, another talented musician, to replace her at the piano, while she is imitating Mme. Schumann Heink with a beautiful selection. Gee! didn't they applaud?"

"That sounds good," answered the Spirit of Gloom, "sounds like chains rattling! I hope they'll applaud some more."

After a few moments the Gloomy Spirit asked: "Why the silence? Have you quit speaking to me?"

"Oh, no," answered the Spirit of Mirth. "I've just been enjoying the cutest jokes and recitations by Dolores Vial, Bessie Batson, Rosalie Araguel, Marguerite, and Vivian Blaize, Caroline Logan, Verna Batson, Melville Weinacker, Grace Lou Weinacker, Oralie Conner, and Carrie Schiro. They were so amusing I can hardly keep from laughing out loud. I want to peep through that window. There are two little fairies. No, not fairies—they're Anna Mae Blaize and Teresa Ward, tripping about the stage, in beautiful and lovely costumes. My! listen to the applause! Their graceful dance was darling!"

"But what do I hear now?" asked the Spirit of Gloom. "Is it not an old Spanish love song?"

"Why, of course," and Amelia Saybe, Olympia Fletes and Nita Nicoli are singing it, accompanied by Victoria Gabriele."

"That brings back memories of the old days when I was yet a Spirit of Mirth, and had not fallen into the depths of Gloom. For many years I trailed through Sunny Spain, and often listened for hours to that old favorite love song."

But here the ravings of the Spirit of Gloom were interrupted by an outburst of laughter from the Spirit of Mirth, who exclaimed: "I do wish you could have seen that amusing stunt that was pulled off by Carmel Kuebel and Ellen Welsh. It was a scream!"

But just then the expression on the face of the Spirit of Mirth changed, and he said: "Oh, shucks! the program is over now. But didn't you enjoy 'Maggie Blues'? The Seniors will some day astonish the world with their vocal talent. See they're going into King Owl's tent, to have their fortunes told."

"Hope they all die of the headache," answered the Spirit of Gloom. "Do hurry," exclaimed the Spirit of Mirth, "they are marching into the dining hall. Come, quick!"

"Oh, my!" exclaimed the Spirits in one voice, as they reached the window. "Isn't it beautiful!"

"I'll have to admit," ejaculated the Spirit of Gloom, "that it is absolutely charming."

"Dear me!" isn't everything decorated to perfection! The candles, and jack-o'-lanterns cast a soft glow over the exquisite display of artistic table covers, place cards, and favors. And just look at the grand things to eat!"

"Yes! Yes!" answered the Spirit of Gloom, who in the excitement over the appetizing display, had forgotten his gloom. "Oh! How I love that old school spirit! They are cheering their devoted Superior, teachers and former boarders, who have so kindly added to their enjoyment."

"For the first time," answered the Spirit of Mirth, "in my Spirit's career, I have really wished to be mortified. Just see, now they are all enjoying themselves, and the music is more than entertaining. Wouldn't you like to steal away for a few moments, because of this beautiful night?"

For nearly an hour, happy exclamations of "Oh's" and "Ah's" came from the Spirits, while they gazed with delight upon the scenes of merriment and beauty within the dining hall.

Then the Spirit of Gloom was heard to say: "Come, they have feasted to their hearts' content, and now they are returning to the Assembly Hall. Let's not miss anything."

And again the Spirits appeared at the windows. Games were played and prizes won and many couples danced, while the Spirits feasted their eyes from the "Realms of Mirth."

Till, finally, the Spirit of Mirth tapped his companion on the shoulder, and asked: "Are you in a trance dear fellow Spirit? Come, we have been royally entertained; now must return to the 'Land of Spirits,' till it may again be our pleasure to behold another such party."

"Well," said the Spirit of Gloom in a happy tone, "I will return with you, but not to the 'Realms of Mirth,' for through the enjoyment and happiness I have witnessed tonight, I have been transformed. So I bid 'Fair Goodbye' to Halloween and to the pupils of S. J. A. until next Halloween, when I shall again wander to these same walls that echo with much happiness."

ELLEN WELSH and ROSALIE ARGUEL, '25.

A story contest among the High School students has been announced. All stories must be handed in not later than November 25th, and each must contain not less than one thousand words. Prizes will be given for the best story in each grade.

Do you recognize any of your friends among the following:

Tsuj Yloj Sroniunj.

The Nut Cracker.
Silver Lining.
Alice—Sister, I don't see how you can read Chaucer so readily. The spelling is so queer.

Sister—Oh, I've had lots of experience reading Juniors' test papers.

Too True.
Teacher—Ellen, give an instance showing how heat expands and cold contracts.

Ellen—The holidays—in summer they last nine weeks; in winter only two.

Marvelous Memory.
Sluer was telling the little ones the story of Columbus: "And it happened over 400 years ago."

Little Tot—Gee, what a memory you've got!

Teacher (commenting on the Divine Comedy): Virgil met Dante on the mountain side.

Virgil (all excited)—Oh, no, Sister, I didn't.

Resignation in Next World.
Class—Can a king resign?
Teacher—Yes.

Oleah—I thought he had to die first.

Who Said?
"This act won the eternal gratitude of his ancestors."

"I'm a fool, but I won't admit it."

"If equals are added to equals the remainders are equal."

Classics?
Don't send me novels when it's classics that I need.

Don't dare distract me, for that is my creed.

Novels I like, goodness knows!

But can't make my reports on those.

So! Don't send me novels when it's classics that I need.

TAKE CARE OF ME!

You had better take care of me. For you don't think much of me, at times, but if you were to wake up some morning and realize you did not have me, you would start that day with an uneasy feeling.

From me, you get food, clothing, shelter and such luxuries as you enjoy.

If you want me to—badly enough—I'll get you a 12-cylinder automobile, and a home.

But I am exacting. I am a jealous mistress. Sometimes you appear hardly to appreciate me at all. In fact, you make slighting remarks about me at times, and neglect me.

Considering the fact that you need me not only for the material things of life, but spiritually as well, I wonder sometimes that you neglect me as you do.

What if I should get away from you? Your happiness would flee for a time at least, and your friends would worry, and your bank account dwindle.

So, after all, I'm pretty important to you.

I'm your job! Cherish me. Take good care of me and I'll take good care of you.—Exchange.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF HIM.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland was being toasted for his election to the United States Senate from New York. In response, the former health commissioner said: "That calls to my mind an incident which happened to a man in my home State of Michigan. He was elected to the Senate, and after the election went back to his home town for a visit. Although he had known the driver of the town hack for a number of years this ancient, during the drive from the railroad station to the town, showed no signs of appreciating the dignitary whom he was driving. Finally, the newly-fledged statesman, unable to endure being slighted so long, said pompously: 'You know who I am, don't you?'

'Yes,' said the driver laconically. 'And the people in the town—they know I've been elected to the Senate, don't they?'

'Yes,' 'Well, what do they say about my election to the Senate?'

'Well,' said the driver, 'they don't say nothin'—they just laugh.'—The Argonaut.

AW, WHAT'S THE USE

CITY ECHOES.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Leonard returned home from New Orleans Tuesday evening, in which city they spent the early part of the week.

—Mr. Thomas P. Hale, Jr., recently returned from Chicago, Ill., and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Hale, and sisters, at Cedar Point.

—Mrs. C. Spotorno and daughter, Miss Julia, recently left Bay St. Louis for their handsome new dwelling in New Orleans, recently completed, where they will spend the winter.

—Mrs. Harry Stuart Saucier has returned from a visit to Lafayette, La., where she visited her daughter, Miss Valmae, who is attending Southwestern University. Mrs. Saucier was impressed with the work of the university and of the trip in general.

—Miss Juanita Gelpi, of New Orleans, has been visiting respectively at the home of Mrs. W. J. Harrison and Mrs. A. F. Smith, and was guest of Mrs. Smith on a motor trip, along with Miss Aline Rensen, to Hattiesburg and Sumrall, Miss.

—New additions to the winter colony in Bay St. Louis are quite numerous. Two of the prominent families are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Prados, at Julia and Front streets, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Bonck in Dunbar avenue, occupying the attractive bungalow recently constructed by Mr. Olesen.

—Mrs. James McConnell and son, Mr. M. Cluverius, left Tuesday evening for New Orleans, where they will spend the winter, and where they will spend the winter, and where they will spend the winter.

—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Camors came out from New Orleans for the week-end at their summer home at Cedar Point. Sunday afternoon they entertained informally at dinner Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Rea.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Rea spent Wednesday in New Orleans, combining business with pleasure. During the afternoon hours they visited friends and celebrated their third wedding anniversary. The many local friends who were so happy to see them.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Weiss returned to New Orleans Sunday evening, after spending the week-end in Bay St. Louis, house guests of Mrs. K. Edwards and family in Washington street. Mr. and Mrs. Weiss enjoyed the holidays and festivities at the B-W. Club Saturday evening.

—A few days since from New York en route home from a visit to Paris, France, where he has been visiting his daughter since summer. Mr. Shields had a most enjoyable and interesting trip, needless to say. He speaks of France in the most glowing terms.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bourgeois returned home Thursday evening from a visit to Gulfport and the Harrison county fair, held at that place, and were guests of Mrs. Bourgeois' mother. They were favorably impressed with the many interesting exhibits.

—Mr. Bernard Shields returned recently purchasing the garage property of the Liberty Garage, from A. Battistella, local Council of the Knights of Columbus intend to renovate and remodel the property in the immediate future. It is intended to convert the place into a regular home and club house for the K. C. members.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Stephens have moved into their new home, recently completed for them in Touline street, near Carroll avenue, where they are "at home" to their friends. The new home is quite neat and handsome and is a factor in the further and better upbuilding of the city.

—Miss C. Dolhonde, accomplished young lady of Hattiesburg, Miss., has been visiting her friends, Mrs. E. J. Lacoste and Miss E. Lacoste, at the family home on the beach front. Mrs. Lacoste, who has been visiting at the Lacoste home, has gone to New Orleans for the winter season, regretted by quite a circle of newly-made and older friends.

—W. J. Gallup, city superintendent of waterworks, has an important notice in this issue of The Echo, occupying a space that cannot fail to attract attention. All water rents are due since July 1st, and failure to pay on or before December 1st will cause the water service to be promptly cut off. The idea, in respectful sense, is: Pay up!

—Taking advantage of the half holiday from business Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Engman and Mr. Edw. Engman visited the Fair at Gulfport, a duty devolving upon every patriotic resident of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The Harrison county annual fair was well worthy of a visit and it is noteworthy that so many from Bay St. Louis and Hancock county were seen among the visitors there.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muller, accompanied by Mr. Muller's sister, Mrs. M. C. Muller, returned to their home in New Orleans Tuesday morning, after spending the early fall season at their own home, out Citizen street. Mr. and Mrs. Muller are thoroughly charmed with Bay St. Louis and the many friends they have formed, and will visit frequently during the winter.

—Mr. John K. Edwards and sister, Miss Emma Edwards, spent Thursday at Gulfport visiting the county fair and visiting at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. W. Edwards, on the east beach. While in Gulfport they also visited at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McCauley, whose new dwelling will be completed in time for occupancy by Christmas.

—All Saints' Day in Bay St. Louis was duly observed as of other years. At Cedar Rest Cemetery there was the blessing of the graves at 2:30 o'clock and at 4:30 the annual ceremony of the Catholic church took place at St. Mary's. The flowers were very beautiful this year, and it was noteworthy that many were grown in Bay St. Louis, and that successfully. Another noteworthy feature was that St. Mary's Cemetery was never in so presentable appearance as at present. The weeds have been entirely cleared and the walks clear of all small growth. During the afternoon hours throngs of people from at home and away visited the cemeteries, paying their respect to the memory of the departed ones.

—Mr. Thomas Richton returned to Bay St. Louis this week after an absence of ten weeks, during which time he was confined in the King's Daughters' Hospital, at Gulfport, where he lay between life and death, and where he was attended by the members of Mr. Richton's family. It will be remembered Mr. Richton was the victim of a railroad accident, crossing the railroad tracks when a freight train came in contact with the team. He is at the home of his son-in-law, Dr. William Cain, on the Bay-Kiln road, and is making a fine recovery, although yet ill. His friends hope to soon see him out again.

—Mr. Howard S. Williams spent part of Thursday at Gulfport, where he attended the weekly meeting and luncheon of the Rotary Club, of which he is a most active member, and expresses much surprise at Bay St. Louis' failure to have a similar organization. Mr. Williams is no more surprised than we. The matter seemingly cannot be explained. Is Bay St. Louis asleep? Hardly! However, it might be well to wake up a little. The writer appreciates the courtesy as Mr. Williams' guest.

—Mr. M. U. Canty, new resident representative for the Standard Oil Company, accompanied by Mrs. Canty and children, arrived in Bay St. Louis from Biloxi Tuesday afternoon and are domiciled at the Beuchel bungalow, in Carroll avenue, while Mrs. Beuchel and family have moved to their adjoining two-story dwelling. Mr. Canty is no stranger here, a graduate of St. Stanislaus College, from Pascagoula, and with his charming and accomplished young wife, are warmly welcomed as permanent residents.

—Attorney Walter J. Gex was taken to New Orleans Thursday afternoon on a stretcher to Hotel Dieu where an examination to determine the nature of his illness was made yesterday and where he will be under medical surveillance. Mr. Gex has been the victim of a malignant fever for the past week or ten days. While his condition is not necessarily dangerous it was serious enough to be taken away, inasmuch as it was impossible to determine outside of the hospital his ailment.

—Mrs. J. M. Tyler came over from Gulfport Thursday morning to visit friends and to decorate the resting place of her husband, Capt. Tyler, who was so well and prominently known in his day. Mrs. Tyler, after an absence of some ten or twelve years spent out of the State, returned to find Bay St. Louis grown from a village to a city, as she expresses it. Mrs. Tyler will remain for an indefinite visit and friends are glad to welcome her again.

—Mr. Erasmus Olivari, prominently connected in an executive capacity with the oil industry, with headquarters at Beaumont, Texas, while en route home from an official visit to Pittsburg, Pa., spent Saturday and Sunday in Bay St. Louis, visiting his mother, Mrs. F. Olivari, and sister, Mrs. R. N. Blaize, at the family home in Citizen street. Local friends are glad to learn of his success in the business world.

COLUMN DE BULL.

Athletic and Other Comment

By FULLER BULL, of Bay St. Louis.

Rock-a-Chaw's Rock Audubon.

With an almost perfect machine working in the many angles of the game, the Rock-a-Chaws met and vanquished the strong Audubon independents of New Orleans last Saturday with a score of 34 to 6. The game was replete with good playing by the local lads from the House O'Brains, who are beginning to show form on the gridiron, and making Foster feel that he has not labored in vain with his teaming strategy.

This was the "rubber" game, both teams having won one: the Rock-a-Chaws winning in 1921, and losing in '22—the college boys were determined from the start to win, and with that in their crops added to a lot of confidence there was hardly any chance of beating them.

Rocks Get Started.

The Rock-a-Chaw's line was like a stone wall; time and again the visitors attempted to pierce it, only to be thrown back with a force that left them bewildered and groggy. They only had ONE lone first down to their credit during the whole game, while the rolling Rock-a-Chaws gathered up a total of seventeen. The fact is that the Audubons were beaten in every play of the game, and it was merely the red jackets been in that form when they tackled the Tulane Green Wave what sand bars meant.

The Audubons wore the Quarantine colors, and many times they had to resort to dodging and weaving in order to extract the sticky fins of the pesky Rock-a-Chaws, that stuck so deep that they hurt.

At the whistle the home boys kicked off, Audubon returning the ball fifteen yards, but being unable to get through the red lines, were forced to the toe work. The Rock-a-Chaws made small gain at the beginning and were held by penalty. The visitors getting the pigskin, at once punted it back; it was then that the fun began and the red and black line started rolling its way, in seven and a half minutes of play they scored their first touchdown. A long pass, Gossen to Bonura, netted twenty-seven yards, then rushes by Crefasi, Gex and Grin Schiro put the oval where Gossen slipped over the line with it, Walter kicking the point.

Some More.

The second period started off with jockey Forward Pass in the saddle, but the track was slow and no headway could be made by the yellow jacket table in that way, while Big Zeke Sampson, Barron and Matt Zeke interfered. Getting the ball, the lads from the Algebra class left the barrier and started down the field on end runs, after Gex had received the kick, an dby a great run carried the ball back forty yards. Passes, Gossen, to Bonura, took the ball into the shadow of the enemy's goal line. Schiro, with a grin that would have carried anything, took the pighide over for the second touchdown; Walter tried the kick, but it was blocked. In the last few minutes of the quarter Audubon blocked the kick on the Rocks' fourteen yard line; they then tried a pass for a score; the ball was struck by a Rock-a-Chaw, but unfortunately knocked right into the hands of a yellow jacket, who fell down in Citizen street. Local friends are glad to learn of his success in the business world.

That was the last of the Yellow Jacket scoring. A big piece of luck, that left them to return no more. Neither side scored in the third quarter, but when the red jackets came up the rollicking Rock-a-Chaws romped regardless and tallied three tallies with three perfect kicks for goal by the toe of the able Mr. Gex. This last spasm it was that the eyes of the spectators saw some real quick work for with Cleveland and Gossen taking turns in rushing the line, it was but one minute of play before Gossen, carried the ball over the line, Walt kicking goal. Then the red jackets made a few long passes and again got the ball down where they wanted and Joubert crossed the line with another marker, Walt doing the perfect again.

At the kick-off Charley Joubert received the ball and carried it back to the center of the field. Fanny Martin was then called in to take the ball, began when the oval was handed him three successive times and each time he brought it nearer, till the last try went over in a walk; Walt kicking the extra point.

The lads again on their way for another touchdown when the whistle saved the visitors further humiliation. Major Maiden (U. of Va.) acted as Referee, and gave the boys to understand that he was the main squeeze iso-facto. The Maj. made good.

Every man on the team deserves some credit, for they all worked well; the line was like a wall, the ends were ever on the job and the back field stopped any funny tricks that the enemy started to pull off.

Scorpions Sting Soldiers.

Thursday witnessed the defeat of the second string Gulf Coast Military Academy football artists by the Scorpions—lil brothers of the famous Rock-a-Chaws—by a score of 20 to 12.

A fumbled ball gave the visitors their first touchdown, and they failed at goal; then, with a very few minutes to play, Bruce, of the future generals, intercepted a forward pass on his twenty yard line and ran through an open field for the score. The Scorpions received and bucked the line for three first downs, but finally lost the ball, then the soldiers rushed to the complement and got to the scrubs' five yard line, but there the lil bros. of the Rocks held till the whistle blew. The quarter ending scoreless.

Nip-and Tuck. With a minute off rest between periods, the visitors attempted a pass back of the line, the ball rolled on the ground, was fumbled and a soldier fell on it. They failed to kick goal.

It seemed then, that the reptiles woke up. Slade received the kickoff on his fifteen yard line and going like a house afire ran through the field, with perfect interference, for eighty five yards for a touchdown. Slade's Foster run and the assistance he got on the journey, from his teammates couldn't be improved anywhere. The kick for point was blocked.

After position, a fine end run by Slade, and a pretty pass from Giardina to Heydel put the pigskin in the shadow of the soldiers' goal posts, then the jolly Roger backed the line for another score, Giardina making a nice punt for point.

In the second quarter Slade made an advance of fifty yards on a perfect pass.

Tough Luck.

The Scorpions were working in a fever heat then and appeared perfect masters of the field, but they were a bit too anxious, for when on the soldiers' twenty yard line, they tried a pass, when a straight line buck or cross tackle would have been intercepted and through a practically clear field, it was carried for six more yards, they failing to kick the extra.

Only a couple of minutes were left, and though the Scorpions tried hard they could not add to their twenty.

Some Pep.

Throughout the game, the S. C. rooters were there with the goods. They backed up their team to the last ditch and if there was anything that helped put pep in the warriors, it was the knowledge that a big bunch of LOYALS were calling for them to win. As we said some time ago, that's the stuff to make a team win, and we want to congratulate every one of these huskies with bugle voices for the real pep they are showing.

WAS ONE OF TWO HONORARY MEMBERS.

Late Mrs. M. C. Gager Was One of Only Two Honorary Members of Legion Post in United States.

Bay St. Louis carried a unique and honorable distinction with the late Mrs. Mary C. Gager as one of the only two women in the United States who were honorary members of the American Legion. The other is in Idaho.

By consent of the national parent body, last year Mrs. Gager was voted by the local Legion an honorary member of the organization. This carried with it quite a distinction and as such Mrs. Gager's name was known and honored all over the country. The fact that only one other such honor existed showed the extent of its meaning.

GENERAL ELECTION ON NEXT TUESDAY.

No one, enjoying the right of suffrage, ought to miss the privilege of voting on Tuesday next. General State election will be held in Mississippi on the 6th, when the people will elect from the nominees chosen at the primaries for this summer, including county and best officials.

At best the election is a legal formality, only names of Democratic nominees appearing on the ticket, with none others from opposing parties. However, it will be necessary to elect these nominees in order they may assume their respective offices.

In many instances the federal government governs the distribution of certain patronage and favors by the number of votes cast in a district or State (not primary, but always regular elections) and a small showing next Tuesday in the number of votes cast might be the cause of losing some consideration later to which we are justly entitled.

HAS FIRST SATSUMA ON FARM.

First satsumas to bear to full fruition, were plucked this week from "Rogae Farm," the attractive farm-orchard at Carroll and Dunbar avenues, owned by R. L. Genin, young attorney of this city. It will be remembered that only over two years ago Mr. Genin cleared this thickly wooded piece of piney woods, when the prospects were by no means prepossessing, and has today one of the finest pecan and satsuma orchards, for its short time of existence, to be found in South Mississippi.

Mr. Genin has set a splendid example, a living one, and the demonstration ought to be embraced in practice by many of our people.

"GET A BRUSH."

A stranger was taking a trip through an insane asylum, and while passing through he saw a man daubing a brush on a box, the brush was perfectly dry and not a bit of paint upon it. He kept this up steadily, and while the stranger was watching him he noticed a paper sticking out of his pocket.

"What is that?" asked the stranger to the inmate, who was still daubing the brush.

"That is a program for today's race," said the painter, "and if you go up there he will be daubing this paintless brush on the box."

The next day the stranger went to the races and put all his money on Rosey.

Rosey finished two laps behind all the other entries, and the stranger lost all.

On his way back he happened to pass this same asylum, so he went in to see the man who gave him the tip. There he saw him sitting the same way as he was before and still daubing the brush upon the box as if he were painting.

"Well, I bet on Rosey and lost all my money," said the stranger. "I thought you said she was a sure bet."

Here the inmate gave a loud laugh and in reply to the stranger's question, answered, "Get a brush."

LATITE

Cool as Forest under a Genasco Roof

GENASCO LATITE SHINGLES shed heat—turn back the blaring rays of the sun like the leaves of a forest. There's no absorbing of heat—no super-heating of interior walls and furnishings. Think what this means! Comfortable sleeping rooms right under your roof—a cooler, more comfortable house in summer from roof to cellar.

GENASCO LATITE SHINGLES are non-conductive of both heat and cold. They're made with Trinidad Lake Asphalt Cement—a product of great insulating as well as water-proofing properties.

GENASCO LATITE SHINGLES have other remarkable features. The sun can't curl them—frost can't pry them apart—hurricane winds can't tear them off. They are beautiful, long-lasting and FIRE-SAFE.

Summer's here—but after it comes WINTER. Why not put on a roofing that weathers ALL weather—that will keep your home as dry, safe and comfortable in January as in July? Insist on GENASCO LATITE.
